PRINTING AND BINDING

Jeremy Mills Publishing has the capacity to handle small and large print jobs on digital presses at our associate printing and binding company.

We also have supply arrangements with local, national and international lithographic printers.

We are, therefore, able to offer large print runs at competitive rates, whilst also providing a short run print service that gives good value for money.

In addition, we can offer clients fast turnaround times and specialist knowledge to assist them with printing their publications.

Jeremy Mills Publishing has experience of printing books, newsletters, journals, magazines, art catalogues, proceedings, stationery and much more.

We can produce publications to almost any size, thickness and colour range, and are experienced at producing special, hand-bound editions of titles, using materials such as leather and gold foil lettering to produce presentation books.

With our experience, knowledge and customer service, we are able to provide a high-quality printing and binding service quickly and cost-effectively.
